

Disclosures for past 12 months (as of February 27, 2020)

In addition to my salary as faculty at the University of Pennsylvania, I have listed below various other sources of professional income and other roles in the past 12 months in order to be transparent about any potential or perceived conflicts of interest related to the content of my website and professional endeavors. I report such activities annually to my department at the University of Pennsylvania and include a disclosure slide whenever I'm doing a presentation on clinical practice and/or research for the sake of such transparency.
